

This video was uploaded to YouTube on August 3, 2010. This is the illustrated version; the plain version was uploaded at the same time. The former ran up only 263 views between then and the small hours of October 19, 2019. The latter ran up a mere 40 views in that time.

I uploaded this video here because an hour or so before, I received a message from YouTube to the effect that the plain version had been removed as hate speech. Hate speech indeed.

To my surprise, when I searched my hard disk I realised I had copied the associated folder files, but had not saved the actual video. Nor had I uploaded it anywhere else. This though is no great loss.

Although I was unable to download the video - which features only my ugly mug - I was able to download a poor quality audio. The plain version runs to a mere 3 minutes 52 seconds, and is inferior to the illustrated version, which could if I so desired be edited down to the former.