

International False Rape Timeline

– hangout – (110) Anatomy Of A Trawl

This hangout discusses Operation Clyde, a recent addition to the Timeline, a trawl of children's homes, and how these operate, roping in innocent people. It points out that while the police like going after easy targets where the only evidence is words, they are neglecting the investigation of real crimes including rapes and murders.

These trawls continue not only because of the police but because child abuse lawyers are growing fat off them. There are also the true believers like Peter Saunders and the charity he founded, not to mention the NSPCC.

I also mention a recent Government consultation paper.
