

International False Rape Timeline

- hangout - (124) - Not For The Timeline (Or Maybe)

This hangout begins with some comment about shadow banning and Internet censorship the I inject a little humour with the result of a GROK search.

Next, I discuss the Jeffrey Epstein sex trafficking allegations in some depth, highlighting especially the lies of Virginia Giuffre.

I contrast the Jeffrey Epstein allegations with the grooming gang allegations, playing a short clip of one of their victims, a woman who can most definitely be called a survivor. I go on to discuss Epstein's island and how this nonsense is promoted by cranks, opportunists, and people chasing clicks, people like Shaun Attwood, who have no commitment to the truth.

I contrast this case with the Elm Guest House List and the V.I.P. Paedophile Ring.

I go on to discuss the failed libel action the actor Noel Clarke brought against The Guardian. I say he played Dr Who; he actually appeared in Dr Who but it was another black actor who played The Doctor. Whatever, this piece of mischief making by The Guardian has all the hallmarks of a vicious trawl, and I compare it with similar smears in particular on Jian Ghomeshi and Rolf Harris.

I go on to discuss a 1985 article by Raine Roberts (which is on the Timeline) but which contains reference to anonymised cases. The 1984 case from Peru is actually Peru, New York. At present, I have no cases from that country, only of a Peruvian soccer player who was arrested in the north of England.

Next, I play a clip of a woman talking about her mother's almost certainly imaginary sexual violation when she was a girl and discuss recovered memories.

Then I discuss a case from 1999 which is yet another warning for men to stay away from drunk women, and especially drunk teenagers.

I discuss a case from Scotland, from the turn of the Millennium - more flashbacks! - then comment on Scotland's absurd and dangerous rape shield laws.

I follow this with a recent case from India in which a corrupt lawyer has been given a life sentence for fabricating rape cases, a cottage industry there.

Next, I discuss a case from the tail end of the 1970s in Canada, one from England in which the alleged victim backed out of the proceedings, then another one, from 1996 in which a man was acquitted of raping a student; I won't be adding that to the Timeline.

I finish up with some further comment about the Epstein case which at this point in time is clearly more mythology than history.
