

International False Rape Timeline - live hangout (23) - Let's Go Gay

I began this slightly whimsically titled live hangout with a thank you to my site sponsors, the second sponsor in particular who earlier this month made a very generous donation which will enable me to not only renew my domains but to purchase a unique domain for the Timeline and host it for the next few years.

I mentioned the last live hangout and related cases, women who fight back.

I covered an absolutely ludicrous recent article by former prostitute Michelle Kelly.

I gave a shout out to the falsely accused Darren Opie, reminding him of the Streisand Effect.

After that I covered some recent news including the continuing witch-hunt of John Leslie, and the case of Carl Beech, the latter of which overlaps with the homosexual theme.

I gave a bit of background to the legal aspects of male homosexuality in particular the way they were targeted by the police prior to the rise of political correctness; I did not cover lesbianism, which I've never been able to take seriously.

Then I covered a number of cases from the Timeline including the homosexual barman, a member of the clergy, the man who falsely accused Michael Barrymore, the falsely accused taxi driver, and the Canadian case of the homo who murdered another homo after engaging in perverted sex with him.

Sexual sadist Rurik Jutting claimed to have been sexually abused as a boy - yeah, right. And even Moslems have been known to engage in this sort of thing, married men at that, like the unfortunately named Lutfur Rahman.

I also covered prison rape, something that like common or garden rape is greatly exaggerated, for a number of reasons.

I finished with some small talk shared with a viewer, and my future plans for the Timeline.
