

The Framing Of Andrew Cuomo

[This is a transcript of my narration only. This isn't important but the image of the older woman is a screengrab from her court appearance during the sentencing of her rapist, not from before. As far as I can tell, the other two are before and after shots. I have not named them in the video but their identities are no big secret. And unlike Charlotte Bennett, they were all really raped.]

From the start of the coronavirus pandemic until February 2021, some fifteen thousand people are believed to have died in New York State nursing homes. A substantial number of these premature deaths were blamed on the wilfulness or stupidity of Governor Andrew Cuomo.

So when the Democrats decided he had become too much of a liability, they decided also to get rid of him. By framing him for sexual harassment. I say framing, but in the feminist lexicon, almost anything can be construed as sexual harassment, any kind of joke or reference to the anatomy, and so on. The only caveat is that this harassment is by men, and the so-called victims are women.

Cuomo was eventually found to have sexually harassed no fewer than eleven women.

Life is too short to discuss them all, but here are four of them.

The talking head in that clip was Greg Kelly. He is a staunch Donald Trump supporter, but he isn't skeptical of this ludicrous report because like Cuomo he is a New Yorker; in October 2011, he had a one-night stand with a woman who accused him of rape. Three months later. Believe women, indeed. The guy he was talking to, Alan Dershowitz, was falsely accused of rape by a lying little whore named Virginia Giuffre, the same lying little whore who accused Prince Andrew of rape, after being paid to have sex with him.

Here is a shorter clip from the same interview, one that shows faux victim number two.

Here is that selfie again:

Now answer this question: did he ask her to pose for a selfie with him, or did she ask the Governor of New York to pose for one with her? Does she look the slightest bit uncomfortable or embarrassed? Whose arm is that around Cuomo's shoulder?

Here is false accuser number three.

Did you notice the reference to her truth? And would you believe she even has a therapist?

And now we come to the star of the show, Charlotte Bennett. Who is a total head case, as will shortly become apparent.

If you were a woman, would you share an empty elevator with Andrew Cuomo? Probably. But if you were a dude, you would share an empty elevator with Charlotte Bennett at your own risk, because the next day, the next year, or even the next decade, she might accuse you of doing something that was physically impossible in the time it took you to reach the ground floor. Remember what they said: believe women!

This is from the official report: "Ms. Bennett disclosed to the Governor that she had been sexually assaulted in college, that she had a difficult experience reporting the assault, and that the experience motivated her to work in politics."

The first question you should ask is why the Hell should she disclose (ie claim) to her boss that she had been sexually assaulted - meaning in this case raped, while she was at college? It is clear it was she who initiated this discussion, and indeed she went to considerable lengths to document it, though not necessarily accurately, including by writing to her father.

Charlotte Bennett studied at Hamilton College, a liberal arts college in New York. She graduated with a degree in women’s studies. Why am I not surprised? And while she was there, she “helped found the Sexual Misconduct and Assault Reform Task-Force, since renamed Survivors Making Activism and Radical Transformation or SMART”.

According to the Cuomo report, she had a difficult experience reporting the assault. Yeah, sure. Ever seen a rape victim? This is what a rape victim looks like.

Before:

After:

Before:

After:

Before:

And after:

What do you think Charlotte Bennett looked like after she was raped? I could be wrong but I have searched extensively, and found no mention of a prosecution, successful or otherwise. This is a stupid girl, a typically brainwashed, braindead, liberal arts major who probably had sex with another student after four or five drinks on Friday night then decided on Monday morning that she was too drunk to consent.

And would you believe she had actually discussed with Cuomo a speech she was shortly to make at Hamilton College? You can guess what the subject was.

Yeah, Cuomo needs to go, so do the Democrats before they totally destroy the country, but don't fall for any of this sexual harassment crap. At least Cuomo hasn't been accused of rape, but give them time.

One final word for the ladies, this is how to deal with creeps and gropers. This is an Egyptian woman, one who is oppressed by the Islamic patriarchy. Does she look oppressed to you?

This is how Western women used to react, certainly up until the 1960s. And this is the way most working class women still react, those who haven't been to university and turned into perpetual victims. Or those who exploit their sexuality to move up the corporate ladder by getting rid of men who stand in their way. The person behind the Cuomo report is Letitia James, the feminist Attorney General of New York. There is already talk of her running for Governor. What a surprise.
