

Who Are The MOST Vulnerable People?

[This is a transcript of my narration only.]

That short clip you have just watched is of one of the imbeciles of Novara Media talking just before the 2024 General Election in which the Conservative Government was pummelled, due in part to its failure to tackle illegal immigration. The election of Keir Starmer means the nation is out of the frying pan into the fire, but that's another story.

Who are the vulnerable people this half-wit was talking about? Well, some of them are genuinely vulnerable, like these two lost souls.

I found this photograph some time ago. I'm not what most people would consider a sentimental type, but every time I see it I feel a mixture of sadness and acute anger. Sadness for two beautiful young women who have subjected themselves to this obscene and totally unnecessary medical procedure. Anger that there are members of the medical profession who are twisted enough to perform operations of this nature and worse.

I have put a link below to my full length documentary, Transsanity, which deals with the trans issue including vulnerable people like these two, but here I want to concentrate not on the prey but on the predators.

There are many organisations throughout the Western world especially that are pushing for what they call LGBT rights, LGBTQ rights, the letters can be expanded. In Britain, this madness started in the 1960s when the so-called Wolfenden reforms legalised homosexual acts between consenting adults over the age of 21.

Religious and medical objections aside, no reasonable person could oppose that, provided homosexuals practised their perversion in their own homes or on premises licensed specifically to cater for them. In England, two men were executed for consensual buggery as late as 1835.

Under Islamic law, men still are, occasionally. I think most people would agree this is far too severe a punishment. And locking up homosexuals with other men has always seemed to me to be more than a little absurd.

If homosexuals had had the good grace to accept their legal victory and get on with their lives like the rest of us, Britain and the world would have been a better place. Instead, they had to push for more. The age of consent was lowered to eighteen, then to sixteen, and the madness continues.

The Stonewall organisation is a relative late comer to this sordid business. In recent years however, it has come in for criticism even from homosexuals and especially lesbians for pushing not simply the homosexual agenda but the trans agenda.

There are similar organisations in the United States, and a plethora of individuals who are pushing it. So what is the trans agenda? It isn't simply to normalise the fetish of men dressing up as women, but to enable males, including predatory males, to invade women's spaces. Even worse and far more sickening, it is to brainwash sexually confused teens or even pre-teens into believing they were "born in the wrong body" and to assist them to "change sex".

Sex is determined at the genetic level. However, it is possible for people of both sexes to undergo what is known as sex reassignment surgery. If an adult man or woman wants to undergo this risky process, it is that person's right. All that is necessary is to find the funding for it and a surgeon corrupt enough or brainwashed enough to perform the operation. My advice is don't, but at the end of the day, this is a question of individual rights.

Okay, let's look at a few predators. First though, here is a small sample of the rhetoric used by the supporters of this perversion. This is Lloyd Russell-Moyle, a homosexual Labour MP, and unsurprisingly an HIV sufferer.

Get that? Any criticism of any trans individual or policy favouring trans individuals can only be motivated by hatred. This is a tactic that is used widely by other lobbies. For example, any criticism of Israeli Government policies can be denounced as anti-Semitic. Conversely, any criticism of Palestinian terrorism can be denounced as Islamophobic. You get the idea.

Of course, not all trans people are predators, but any man who invades a female only space without a very good reason should be presumed to be a predator. And that is what we are talking about, not women entering male changing rooms, but predatory males going where they don't belong. Okay, let's look at a few. We start with a notorious case, notorious especially because when the father of the first victim protested about it at a school board meeting, he was arrested.

Here is a truly shocking exchange in the American parliament between Senator Kennedy and an activist magistrate, sadly a female one.

That interchange illustrates just how blind are these trans fanatics and their fellow travellers to reason.

Here is the case of another predator, this time in Canada. Try not to laugh. Bear in mind there is nothing humorous about men being given a free pass to invade women's spaces and do the kind of things this lowlife did.

Here are three short clips of two women who spent some time in a California prison. Amie Ichikawa took part in a kidnapping. Whether or not she is a feminist, she peddles the feminist victim narrative about how women in prison are victims, of sexual assault, of domestic violence, of men in general, so you shouldn't be impressed with her rhetoric of being re-traumatised, but there are limits.

My apologies for the beeping over the word rapist. Many YouTubers censor certain words because of the algorithm.

Here is the second woman.

Listen to what she says about how these predators play act. They dress like women initially, but then...

In case you hadn't noticed, this madness has been happening in the UK as well. The notorious case of Adam Graham alias Isla Bryson north of the border led to the downfall of Nicola Sturgeon, one of the most powerful politicians in Scotland.

Here is another of these perverts, this time from the West Country.

Bristol transgender woman jailed for rape

Lexi-Rose Crawford was found guilty of rape and assault by penetration

BBC News

A transgender woman has been jailed after being found guilty of rape.

Lexi-Rose Crawford from Bristol had denied rape and assault by penetration but was found guilty by a jury at Bristol Crown Court earlier.

Here is a demonstration by the Socialist Workers Party, note the trans rights placard.

It goes without saying that most genuine female workers believe so-called trans rights end at the entrance to their changing room door, like these nurses.

And as ordinary members of the public worldwide wise up, they are increasingly voting with their feet.

Finally, here is a group of degenerates attempting to disrupt an open air meeting in Central London.

Here is how such disruptions are almost invariably reported, even by the supposedly right wing Daily Mail.

Police breakup brawl between trans rights and women's rights activists: Police were forced to keep gender critical activists and pro-trans protesters apart from each other at a rally held by women's right's campaigner Kellie-Jay Keen in London on Sunday. The meeting of Standing For Women was led by Ms Keen - who is also known as Posie Parker - at Speakers' Corner in Hyde Park saw the two groups face off. Parker is leading a campaign for the word 'woman' to be defined as 'adult, human, female' in law, but has been met with protests from trans activists - most recently in Belfast earlier this month. In Hyde Park the opposition group held LGBT flags and signs reading 'Terfs Go Home', the pro-trans protesters demonstrated against the meeting behind a line of police officers, while chanting 'LGB with the T'.

The police are said to have broken up a brawl between women's rights and trans rights activists. If someone attacks you in the street and a passing policeman pulls him off you, has he broken up a brawl?

A dude in a dress who invades a women's locker room isn't a vulnerable person, and he certainly isn't a victim. Don't be fooled by clowns like Novara Media, or the powerful and at times vicious lobby that is indoctrinating your kids in state-run schools. But that's another story.
