

Erratum

This is an erratum for How The Searchlight Organisation Incites Hatred Against Jews... ISBN 1 898318 01 8.

On page 6 of this publication it is stated that: "Among other things, Hepple tried to palm off a fake list of far right supporters on an anarchist group in order to set them up for attack by fascists. (36) He has also openly incited anarchists to murder the leaders of the British National Party. (37)"

The numbers in brackets allude to footnotes. Note 37 on page 24 contains the quote: "Beating up boneheads is OK for a start, the day you take out Tyndall or Edmunds we will know you are serious."

Although Tim Hepple did indeed attempt to pass off a fake list on a group of violent anarchists, he did not, as far as I am aware, incite anyone to murder the leaders of the British National Party. The quote is in fact genuine but was made by someone else. I have also falsely attributed this quote to Hepple elsewhere, and in an appendix to the 2nd Edition of Editors! Are You Being Fed A Load Of Bullshit?..., I have issued an unqualified apology. I have also explained in this appendix how the quote came to be falsely attributed to Hepple, and again must apologise unreservedly. It remains a fact though that Hepple has indeed wilfully incited political and racial violence in the usual eclectic fashion of Searchlight's long line of accredited agents provocateurs.

A Baron - author