

The black buck deserves white trash, in Tesco and Sainsbury's

WELL DONE Steve Pope!
[Pope Fiction 26/2/01]

I don't normally bother to get involved with 'black issues' in this country, as my contempt for the English black man equals that of the white man.

Black people in this country must stop trying to measure themselves by white standards, and take pride in themselves.

We crave their acceptance to such an extent that we discard anything which is our own. We let the white man remould and dilute it, then we gladly scoop what they have discarded at the bottom.

I am amazed, enthralled and repulsed at the supermarket spectacle, described by Mr Pope, of black men and white women.

It's true - attend the Ideal Home Exhibition and you'll see it too. The problem is I feel sorry for those poor white girls. When will they learn?

Before you say I'm bitter, not so, in fact I'm pleased for the poor foolish negroes who feel they are achieving the heights of whitedom.

Remember though black male, she's your mistress not mine.

Do they really think the white man cares? Once his woman has been sullied by a black buck, she's soiled goods anyway. It leaves the best for him.

Black sisters save your honestly earned money. Go to the West Indies and you will find a real black man. Not these poor effigies in their tight jeans and flabby guts.

One may say that the irony is that all they want in the West Indies is to come here. Well it's worth taking the chance, as black men here are so weird, who is it they want? Don't you see the white girls in the W I? Acting like depraved hungry souls

A Jamaican, Bajan, Trinidadian etc, is not used to the soft, easy life, and therefore acts like a man, allowing you to be a real woman; not like here where we have to be all and everything.

Black men here just want to get into the white man's gene pool, at the expense of their dignity and families. Look at the so-called Rastas, they are sickening.

Watch the idiots in the summer, with their pathetic convertibles and their blondes. Yuck!

The black buck feels so good with those types of white females and they deserve each other; she in chase of mythical ecstasy, and he in love with the myth of white supremacy.

It's mother nature's way of sorting out the rot from the good. Nuff respect to the white man, the Indian man and the rest for protecting and keeping theirs together.

I don't blame them for treating the black buck with the contempt he truly deserves.

ED SAYS: I really hope that if you have children they are not boys. Because if they are, I fear they are in trouble. Unless, of course, you exempt your own family from your tirade against British black men.
