When you were young you may have learned that one of the best ways to manipulate your schoolmates was to call them names. That still works in the adult world, or at least it is still tried, even at an international level. The latest attempt directed against the UK is by an idiot named François Crépeau (no, not Crapper) who says the plans of the Cameron Government to scrap the Human Rights Act (so-called) and leave the European Union are comparable with the Nazi treatment of Jews in the 1930s.

Professor Crépeau is a grandly titled special rapporteur on the human rights of migrants for the United Nations, which means what exactly? This is not the first time he has waded in on this issue, last October he was making similar noises. So what is this really all about?

In case you hadn't noticed, there is currently a mass exodus from North Africa, those fleeing either genuine persecution or more likely looking to better themselves are intent on emigrating to Europe, but Europe has had enough. We should of course provide humanitarian aid to these people but apart from that, they are not our problem, it would be in their interest as well as ours if they were encouraged to relocate to Israel or even Nigeria, somewhere they don't have to cross dangerous seas in flimsy boats risking life and limb.

If Britain withdraws from the Human Rights Act (so-called) and the European Union, this will repatriate powers from Europe to the UK; decentralising power is the very opposite of Nazism, never let it be forgotten that Adolf Hitler dreamed of a united Europe under his control. What we have at the moment is a Europe that is under the control of unelected bureaucrats who are forever issuing edicts from on high. The European Central Bank dictates financial policy, and under the Treaty Of Maastricht we cannot issue our own credit.

Furthermore, the United Nations was and remains an attempt to create something even bigger than that, a world supra-government, one that will be ruled by the likes of Professor Crépeau. Anyone who doubts that should read G. Edward Griffin's classic book The Fearful Master, and anyone who has will realise we need the United Nations for what, precisely?
