The activities of the self-styled Professor Alexia Thomas were reported on here in August. The former Lizzy Henz can be found wittering away on both YouTube and on her own website, that of the grandly titled Independent Diplomat Commission. Recently, this tireless self-publicist has duped her way into print again with a Nigerian website wherein the gullible George Otumu alludes to her as a "fiery British activist". Indeed.

According to her latest ravings, she has documents in her possession which confirm a plot to

"Wipe out Commonwealth people", by the British Government no less, that is those it does not plan to enslave.

In this context she quotes from some correspondence she had with the Home Office many years ago, having written in the first instance to the Queen. It goes without saying that Her Majesty is far too busy entertaining foreign dignitaries and the like to give the time of day to any certifiable lunatic who fires off an epistle to Buckingham Palace. The same nonsense can be found on AllAfrica.com.

Dear Excellency,

BRITISH COMMONWEALTH NATIONAL CARD

As we discussed at our meeting on 4 November, we share an interest in providing clear and honest communications on immigration matters in the UK. On this basis, I would like to bring to your attention an issue that is being discussed within the Nigerian Diaspora in the UK. There have been media reports that Nigerians who are in the UK illegally can class themselves as Commonwealth citizens and thereby be exempt from immigration removal from the UK. I would like to clarify that this is not true and such a declaration is not a lawful barrier to enforcement action by Home Office Immigration Enforcement.

Furthermore, there have been reports that some vulnerable Nigerians are purchasing 'British Commonwealth National Card' ID cards that allegedly confer on the holder British subject status. These are apparently costing between £150 and £300. I wonder if it would be possible to help communicate to the Diaspora in the UK that such an ID card does not prevent an illegal migrant being removed from the UK.

As we have discussed at length, we want to work with the Diaspora to help those who are not here lawfully to depart from the UK voluntarily and I will write to you separately about our plans here. In the meantime, I thought it would be beneficial to the community to ensure that they were not purchasing something that gave them a false sense of security.

I have copied this letter to Mr Victor Udoyen, Mrs Abdulrazaq and Ms Yemisi Jenkins of ABLE.

Yours sincerely

Warning by the UK Home Office (Image Credits : ChannelsTV.com)

It is worth repeating what was said before, the Independent Diplomat Commission is a private limited company that has no powers. It is solely the creation and fantasy vehicle of its owner.

Additionally, anyone who purchases certificates or any other documents from it, be warned, these have no validity; court officials throughout the UK have been so advised, a number of people have reported Alexia Thomas to the police, and when they do decide to move against her, she can expect to be detained for a very long time.
