

The Privileged Idiots Of American High Academe

Recently, an American academic hit the headlines for all the wrong reasons. Saida Grundy is to take up a post at Boston University shortly, but there have been calls to fire her before she has started. While Professor Grundy should definitely not be fired, she does need to be sent to school to learn before she teaches. So what did she say that caused such outrage?

Professor Grundy is black and a feminist, always a bad combination – ie feminist with anything except anti- ...and she has just realised that in today's culture of victimhood, political correctness cuts both ways. She has been tweeting (though not like a bird) to the effect that white males are evil, and now some white males – and others – have taken offence. So what did she say? Well, not a few of her tweets contain what have been called rants against such chimeras as white privilege, as far as it is possible to rant in 140 characters.

Here is one: “there is also no race except europeans who kidnapped and transported human beings in order to enslave them and their offspring for life”.

Well, at least unlike most of the loonies of the far left she acknowledges that race is a biological reality rather than a social construct, but is this statement historically correct? Hasn't she read her Bible? Hasn't she heard of Arab slavers, or black slavers? The explorer Samuel Baker wrote in 1866: “the institution of slavery...is indigenous to the soil of Africa, and...has NOT BEEN TAUGHT TO THE AFRICAN BY THE WHITE MAN, as is currently reported, but...has ever been the peculiar characteristic of African tribes...It was in vain that I attempted to reason with them against the principles of slavery: they thought it wrong when they were themselves the sufferers, but were always ready to indulge in it when the preponderance of power lay upon their side”.

She has also claimed that “white masculinity” is a problem on American campuses rather than masculinity per se, as usually proclaimed by the proponents of rape culture. What Professor Grundy appears to be forgetting is that it was white males who built these campuses, and white males, largely, who have elevated her to the privileged position from which she is now taking pot shots at them.

If Professor Grundy is profoundly ignorant of history, she compensates for this with her dearth of understanding of economics. In January of this year she whined “every MLK week i commit myself to not spending a dime in white-owned businesses. and every year i find it nearly impossible.”

Man, her style of written English is a wonder to behold, but what she is saying is the white man is bleeding us dry. This monumental ignorance is nothing new in black intellectuals, both Malcolm X and the rap musician Ice Cube railed against whites, Jews and even Koreans bleeding da brothers and da sisters dry. Today, the man who in 1991 ranted against parasitic Korean shopkeepers has an estimated net worth of $140 million.

Money does not go from black to white, dummy, nor from Jew to Gentile, from black to Korean or anyone else, rather it goes round and round. How much are these problem white males paying you? Having said that, we are all in effect slaves of the financial system, but that is not a white problem either, although for some curious reason, social justice warriors never mention usury.

Noel Ignatiev (YouTube)

Sadly, Saida Grundy is far from the only American academic spouting such nonsense, far, far more insidious than her is Noel Ignatiev who wants to abolish the white race completely, and counsels young white men to commit suicide. White males, he argues, have contributed nothing to history except hatred, discrimination, genocide and oppression – people like Ignatiev and Grundy love that last word.

If white males have contributed nothing to history, how did the population of Africa explode from an estimated 120 million in 1900 to over one billion today? Was it because of the antibiotics never developed by African scientists, the written language no black African ever had, the infrastructure Africans never built...? If you want to see what life in Africa was like before the white man came, check out the silent 1925 film In The Land Of Giants And Pygmies. The truth is Saida Grundy should get down on her knees and pray to the evil white men who enslaved her ancestors and dragged them to AmeriKa, for if they had not, she would have been born in a mud hut, given birth to ten children, eight of whom would have died in infancy, and lived a pitiful existence perhaps reaching the age of forty, if she hadn't been murdered or even eaten by a neighbouring tribe.

As for Noel Ignatiev, his hatred of white (Gentile) males springs from an entirely different source, and unlike Professor Grundy, he is beyond salvation.
