“We hang the petty thieves and appoint the great ones to public office”
Aesop

“A fool and his money are easily elected”
Will Rogers

Acclaimed director
Max Stafford-Clark teams up with some of our most celebrated playwrights for an evening of political satire.

Alistair Beaton and Stella Feehily make merry with the machinations behind the closed doors of our major political parties. David Hare attacks the cult of the free market through a visitation from its chief priestess.

Mark Ravenhill eyes the cost of our military adventures as a soldier's mother does all she can to avoid hearing the news she dreads. And Caryl Churchill imagines a world where even language is sponsored.

Funny, angry and playful, A View from Islington North is smart entertainment for the head and heart. Book your ticket now, and be parachuted into the safest seat in town.
