Jonathan Holloway’s
JEKYLL & HYDE
from Robert Louis Stevenson's gothic horror classic

Jonathan Holloway adapts and directs Stevenson’s mystery story for Hong Kong’s multi award winning Chung Ying Theatre Company, with a cast of professional UK and Hong Kong actors.

Suspended between macabre cabaret and Victorian melodrama, this genuinely disconcerting version delivers an unexpected contemporary spin breathing new life into the familiar yarn. This is a reimagining, not a retelling, driven by a desperate energy, heightened by a live score.

"an atmospheric wonder. This is a great show"
HK MAGAZINE

"complex, multilayered and gripping drama... intense but accessible, with strong performances... Olivia Winteringham excellent in her dual title roles, seductive one minute and ruthlessly cruel the next."
SOUTH CHINA MORNING POST

"Holloway cuts open the skin of a controlling and repressive society to reveal the wounds festering inside."
THE CHINA DAILY

"strangely brilliant... Holloway's text adds a new dimension to our understanding of Stevenson's masterpiece"
