

2018's Love Bites Again show was a sell-out success, with Alex Head's play How We Met the runaway winner, pictured above

This year expect more comedy and drama as SE London-based playwrights explore the rollercoaster ride of modern relationships. Vote for your favourite play on the night and the winning playwright will be commissioned to write a play for the next Love Bites event.

PLAYS IN COMPETITION

DELEGATION

by Becky Danks

LOVE DOCTOR

by Dan Harwood

CHAT

by Alex Head

JILTED

by Lucinda Lane

YOU SCRUB UP ALRIGHT

by Anjuli Obaro

MEET NOT-SO-CUTE

by Andrew Platman

CROSSED LINES

by Mike Stephenson

AVIATRIX

by Ida Tidy

LOSING FACE

by Jane Walker

Bar on the night provided by Ignition Brewery

THE CAST

ANNIE ALDINGTON

JIMAND ALLOLEY

JAMES JACK BENTHAM

ANNABELLE DOWLER

WILLIAM HASTINGS

EMMA READE-DAVIES

DAVID SAYERS

AUDIENCE AND WRITER COMMENTS

“Spontaneous Productions is the National Theatre of SE26. Always surprising, always impressive, always entertaining.”

Matthew Sweet, author and broadcaster

“An entertaining evening – excellent performances all round and it’s wonderful to have such an event on our doorstep in Sydenham.”

“The acting was great and the constraints placed on the writers in terms of time created focus, pace and interest. A great evening.”

Dan Harwood, writer

“I had a piece I’d written performed at Love Bites (2018), and it was a fascinating experience to see it brought to life on the stage.” Rachel Firth, writer