AWARDS 2015

DAILY
Mirror

Thank you for picking up a nomination form for the Pride of Britain Awards 2015, sponsored by Lidl.

In the autumn, I have the honour of hosting the seventeenth annual Pride of Britain on ITV.

It's become the biggest national event of its kind and, like millions of viewers, I love it.

No other TV awards show has winners who are more deserving.

They're not celebrities, but the nation's real stars... unsung heroes who inspire us all. Courageous children and adults, exemplary teachers, carers and careworkers, charity fund-raisers and members of the emergency services and armed forces who put their lives at risk for others.

Like our award presenters, who have ranged from Prince Charles and Prime Minister David Cameron to Simon Cowell, David Beckham, Jamie Oliver and Cheryl Fernandez-Versini, I am always in awe of what winners have done.

Yet there are many, many heroes whose achievements go unrecognised. And that's why we need your help in telling us about them. For the fourth year running, LIDL are proud to be presenting, The LIDL Young Fundraiser Award for children and teenagers under the age of 18, who have gone the extra mile to help a good cause.

To nominate your hero for an award, please fill in the back of this form and post to Pride of Britain, PO BOX 4014, London E14 5BF by Friday 7th August 2015.

Winners will be selected by a panel of distinguished judges.

By nominating, you could also win tickets to join us at the star-studded awards dinner in London. Otherwise tune into ITV in October 2015. It's always the most uplifting night of the year.

Thank you for your support.
